Greenburn Cottage, Auchencrow, TD14 5LS

LOCATION:

The property is set on the very edge of Auchencrow, which is a charming small village, located in East Berwickshire within the Scottish Borders with a strong sense of community. The village spirit is shown through initiatives like a community-run food exchange box, while the local pub enjoys an award-winning reputation. The property is approximately 2 miles from Reston, a slightly larger village which offers convenient access to the A1 and has a station on the East Coast Railway, making it an excellent choice for commuters.

DESCRIPTION:

This charming stone-built cottage is believed to have originally begun life as a traditional barn, complete with external stairs leading to a hayloft, a characteristic feature of many historic Border barns. While it has been a comfortable dwelling for many years, the current owners have transformed it into a beautifully appointed home that seamlessly blends character with contemporary style. The accommodation is thoughtfully arranged over two floors. On the first floor, the impressive lounge features a wood-burning stove and French doors opening onto a south-facing balcony, creating a wonderful space to relax while enjoying the views. This level also includes a well-proportioned bedroom and a stunning bathroom complete with a free standing egg-style bath. The ground floor offers a welcoming sunroom beneath the balcony, an inner hallway with a bespoke, custom-designed staircase, a further double bedroom, and a stylish bathroom featuring a separate shower. A charming dining room/snug flows through to the bright and spacious contemporary kitchen, which is flooded with natural light from both a window and a roof lantern. The quality of finish throughout is exceptional, with attractive silvered cladding, beautifully crafted oak doors, ornate radiators, tiled flooring, and double-glazed windows. The design has been carefully considered to maximise the southerly aspect, with just one window on the north-facing elevation, ensuring the principal rooms are filled with natural light. Viewing is highly recommended to fully appreciate the generous accommodation, exceptional standard of finish, and unique charm this delightful cottage has to offer.

EXTERNALLY:

Positioned with its northern elevation fronting the street, the property enjoys a predominantly south-facing aspect, allowing the principal rooms, gardens and most windows to benefit from excellent natural light throughout the day. A gate to the side of the attractive stone-built property leads into a generous, gravelled parking area providing space for several vehicles, together with a patio ideal for outdoor seating and entertaining. Steps bordered by a small flower bed lead to the upper level of the garden, which is laid mainly to lawn and offers ample space for families or keen gardeners. The south-facing balcony enjoys a pleasant outlook over the gardens and surrounding countryside, providing a wonderful spot to relax and take in the peaceful setting.
